Aloha from our General Manager

Kindness is a Virtue

I fondly remember a memory of my grandparents where I learned about the virtue of kindness and forgiveness at the age of 11. After years of living with our family, my Lolo and Lola were able to live on their own but had roommates who were also grandparents.

That day I saw how my Lolo took care of my Lola a lot more. He vowed to do as they had been married for over 50 years and he really loved her. She was beginning to be more forgetful but she was still able to do some things on her own. Little did I know that would be my first experience with dementia and my Lola suffered from it. As a family, we knew my grandfather would need more support and my grandmother would eventually need more help.

At the end of my visit, I recalled witnessing an interaction between my grandparents and the other couple. Although I couldn't recall it clearly, I remembered the spouse had made an unkind remark towards my Lola because of her dementia and the way she was interacting with him. After observing this at a young age, I remember thinking to myself that was not a nice thing to say. My Lolo responded very cordially and we left as I needed to get back home.

As we were walking, I asked my Lolo why did the other person say that about my Lola. I asked him, "Lolo, why can some people be mean?" He explained that there are people in the world that you will meet who are not nice. He shared that when I do, to still be nice to them. It was a hard concept for me to grasp at that young age and I never forget what he said.

As I got older, this memory stayed with me and to be nice to others because my Lolo told me it was the right thing to do. Now that I'm an adult, it made more sense why he made that admirable response to defend his wife, my Lola. Rather than argue with the other person, my Lolo knew that my Lola's dementia was progressing and getting angry wasn't the answer. He knew in his heart that she was still the same person he had loved his entire life but she was changing and they didn't understand why. My Lolo chose to forgive and move on which I have learned to do too. "Be kind to unkind people. They need it the most."

"Not throwing stones is the first step in treating others with compassion. The second step is to try to catch stones thrown by others."

Hello Residents, Families and Our Guests,

Residents, staff, visitors and guests are not required to wear face masks while in our Community and are optional. However, should we have an active staff or resident case, we encourage you to wear a face mask for your protection and for others. I also ask should one present any symptom(s) that is not COVID related, then to please wear a face mask.

A friendly reminder to wash your hands often and please utilize the hand sanitizer stations throughout the building. When serial testing is being conducted, we encourage you to wear a face mask that covers your nose and mouth upon leaving your room and when assisted by any one of our staff members. If you are in need of a free face mask, please ask us and are made available at the Front Desk. Wearing a face mask becomes optional again when serial testing is complete and no COVID activity is present.

If someone is exposed or is experiencing COVID or flu symptoms, we strongly urge our guests to refrain from visiting and to re-schedule their visit.

We have the ability to test those for COVID who may have been exposed and/or experiencing any symptom(s). Please inform a Nurse, Resident Assistant or the Receptionist if you don't feel well.

Visits can be conducted daily and for any out of the facility visits. For our residents, please inform us of the date, time, and approximate length of when you will be out of the facility; at least 24-48 hours in advance of leaving, to our Receptionist. Before leaving the facility, residents please sign out at the Front Desk.

Roselani Place stays committed to the well-being of our residents. Our Health Services Team also wants to remind you to wash your hands often. Please inform our team in the Med Room when you have a medical appointment. When you feel sick or ill, please press your call pendant and inform any staff member or nurse.

Healthcare Volunteer Week April 20 - 26, 2025

Celebrate Service. Volunteers Make a Difference.

National Volunteer Week was established in 1974 to recognize and celebrate the efforts of volunteers across the country. It is a time to honor and thank volunteers for their commitment to patient care and their compassion toward patients, staff and the community. These volunteers also make an impact within risk management arenas, in hospice care, and within transportation, food pantries, lending closets and gift shops.

Join in on the recognition by sharing volunteer-related selfies and stories with Healthcare Volunteer Week—The Beryl Institute
